Fit3D at X-Force Body

Fit3D is a body scanning system that allows people to evaluate their body shape and fitness progress over time in three-dimensional form. Our goal is to drive passion into people's workouts and to keep them engaged in fitness by showing them the true results of their hard work.

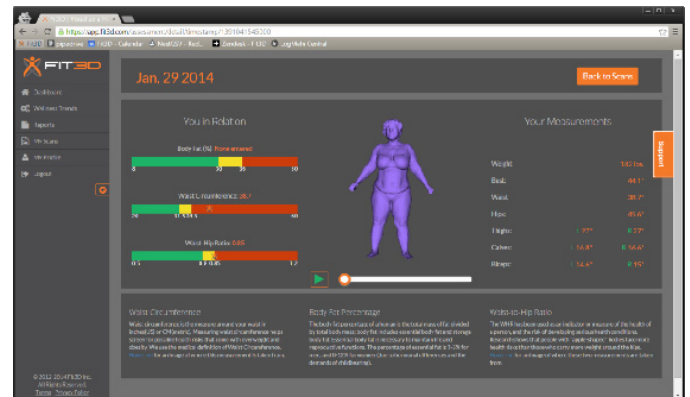

The Fit3D ProScanner system builds a custom and personalized 3D model of the user's body and then automatically captures the body's most important measurements in under a minute. The Fit3D System then automatically extracts hundreds of circumference, height, volume, and length measurements. This information is available on the secure Fit3D web platform, and can be shared with trainers, wellness coaches, and others.

The full 360-degree avatar of the user allows them to compare changes from all angles. On the private web platform, images and data from each scan are viewed side by side. It puts knowledge into the hands of fitness professionals and ignites motivation in their clients.

Motivation is a precious commodity that can be easily lost when using the weight scale as the only measurement of fitness success. See the bigger picture with the Fit3D ProScanner and visualize a healthier you.

Fit3D is featured in the X-Force Body program available exclusively at X-Force Body. The 6-week long body transformation program delivers unparalleled fat loss results. The Fit3D scan allows participants to benchmark their progress in a tangible visual way that helps them visualize and realize their fat loss goals.
